

COTTON CONGRESS INTERESTS ENGLISH

Two Hundred Britons With Other Europeans Coming to Atlanta.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Unusual interest is manifested by English spinning and manufacturing concerns in the cotton congress, to be held in Atlanta, Ga., October 7 to 9. Two hundred delegates have been chosen to represent the English concerns at the congress, and Belgian, French, and other manufacturers will also be represented. As a result of the congress, conditions are expected to be greatly improved this year.

European manufacturers devoted considerable attention to the trade in cotton during the last year, with the specific aim of developing importation on a better scale financially, as well as to improve the cotton.

"We hope much good will result from our conference with the cotton growers in America," said William Pelling, a manufacturer. "I am certain that we will arrange to have cotton shipped in better shape and systematize economies which will not only be a saving to the manufacturers in Europe, but will admit of better prices to the growers."

"There is nothing so simplifying and beneficial in connection with importations of cotton than heart to heart talks with men who produce the crop."

BUBONIC PLAGUE ALARMS COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Alarmed at the spread of the bubonic plague along the Pacific coast the National and State governments have grappled with the situation in an effort to stamp out the dreaded malady.

United States revenue cutters and an army of Federal officials have been enlisted in the combat, and all incoming and coasting vessels are being halted and subjected to rigorous inspection before being permitted to enter port. Any resistance on the part of any vessel will be promptly answered with shots from the Government's boats.

Up to last night seven deaths have been recorded and eighteen cases of the plague are under treatment.

BRIBE FOR TAYLOR OFFERED, SAYS DURBIN

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 30.—Winfield T. Durbin, governor of Indiana from 1901 to 1905, made the surprising statement that soon after his inauguration as governor, attempts were made to bribe him to turn over William A. Taylor, Kentucky's refugee governor, to the authorities of the State on the charge of conspiracy to assassinate Senator Geobell. The sum offered former Governor Durbin, according to his own statement, was $25,000 in cash.

Mr. Durbin said that Taylor had been advised of the attempted bribery offer and that he had refused it at the meeting at which the $25,000 was offered.

IDAHO PROSPECTORS RUSH TO NEWLY FOUND COAL FIELD

LEWISTON, Idaho, Aug. 30.—Hundreds of prospectors are rushing through the Clearwater district, near Alshaka, seeking coal deposits which were accidentally discovered by a hunter. While roaming in the hills north of the town, the hunter found what he believed to be petrified wood. He brought it to this city, where, after analysis, it was found to be coal of the highest percentage carbon. Expeditions were immediately organized for prospecting.

Horse Heir to $10,000; Must Never Be Worked and Live Like a Prince

Owner Kills Himself Over Death of Animal's Mate and Leaves Peculiar Will For Maintenance of Remaining Equine.

ATLANTIC, Iowa, Aug. 30.—George A. Long, who committed suicide after the death of one of a pair of favorite horses, left a bequest of $10,000 to keep the other horse in comfort as long as it lives.

Long's peculiar will was in the shape of a letter, which was found among his effects. It provides for the distribution of an estate worth $30,000. To each of his two brothers he left $10,000, and the remaining $10,000 was bequeathed to the horse Tip, with many curious provisions as to how it should be expended.

The will provided first that the horse should never be compelled to work during its life time; that it should be given a liberal allowance of oats, corn, and hay daily; that it should be taken out for exercise two hours daily, but never hitched to a wagon or vehicle of any kind; that his bed should be changed every day.

It was provided that a monument should be erected over the grave of the horse at his death, the amount to be spent to be governed by the balance remaining in the fund of $10,000 which had been left him. As the interest on the money is likely to keep the horse the probabilities are that Tip will have a $10,000 monument.

The horse was the mate of the one for which Long killed himself. He believed that the animal could never be cured and did not want to live without his companionship. He killed it and then ended his own life.

It is doubtful if any effort will be made to contest the will left by Long, although it is the common opinion that the man was insane when he died. It is said that Long had often expressed the opinion that he didn't care to live after his brothers had both been able to acquire farms, and that as soon as he saw that desire satisfied he was ready to die at once.

He was a man of only thirty-five years of age and came to Atlantic only a few years ago as a Swedish emigrant. In a short space of time he amassed a small fortune of $30,000.

The new agreement establishes the nine-hour day for 1,500 shop employees on the system. The new working agreement goes into effect on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway today.

HORSE LIFE BOAT, BOY IS RESCUED

Animal Swims With Policeman to Drowning Lad.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—By using his horse as a life boat, John A. Newman, a mounted patrolman of the Seventy-first precinct, Brooklyn, rescued Fred Boyle, nine years old, who was drowning in the waters of Gravesend Bay.

Newman was riding along slowly, when he heard the screams of a woman, who pointed frantically to the boy struggling in the water.

Newman swung his horse toward the water and plunged in. The animal swam with the policeman on its back until he was near the drowning boy. Then Newman dropped off into the water and seized the youngster just as he was sinking for the third time. He swam to the shore while the well-trained horse, which had waited for him instead of making at once for land, followed its master to shore.

MACMONNIES NOW TO START DENVER PIONEERS' STATUE

DENVER, Aug. 30.—Frederick MacMonnies, the sculptor who has been engaged to design the Pioneer's Monument, to be erected here, has completed an examination of the site, for which specific purpose he came here. He will return to New York and immediately start for Paris to begin his work. Mr. MacMonnies has designed many noted monuments, among them being the great fountain at the Chicago World's Fair, the General McCallan Monument, the entrance to Prospect Park, Brooklyn, and the Nathan Hale Monument at West Point.

GIRL HUMAN TORCH; RUNS AMID GUESTS

Her Shrieks Drowned by Orchestra and Panic Averted.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—With her skirts seething billows of flame, her hair burned off, and her flesh peeling from her face, a maid dashed down thirteen flights of stairs in the Hotel Prince George, in East Twenty-eighth street, and fell unconscious in the guest-filled main corridor.

She was Nellie Kelleher. She is dying in the New York Hospital. An orchestra in the main dining room, which drowned her screams, averted a panic of 200 persons in the exclusive hotel.

Miss Kelleher, who is twenty-nine, was making rabbits over an alcohol lamp in her room on the thirteenth floor of the hotel about 8:30 o'clock. Her sister Mary was spending the evening with her.

In the midst of the rabbit making the lamp exploded and the flame caught in Miss Kelleher's gauze dress when she rushed forward to put it out. Mary Kelleher scorching her own hands to charcoal trying to extinguish the burning cloth. Then the maid, overcome with fright and pain, fled shrieking to the stairway.

Fanned by her frantic leaps down the steps, the blaze burst all over the shrieking girl. It turned the light gauze dress to ashes in a moment, burned through her underclothing and by the time she had run down five flights she was ablaze from head to foot.

A hundred men and women were dining in the big room just at one o'clock, and the orchestra was slashing out a popular air. It made so much noise that the screams of the dying girl next door were not heard.

"KINLESS" MAN DEAD; 46 HEIRS APPEAR

MERIDEN, Conn., Aug. 30.—Gardner C. Lillbridge, sixty-two years old, of Baltic, always lamented that he was a lonely old man and had no kin. He died Tuesday, leaving an estate exceeding $150,000, and without a will.

Lillbridge had no direct heirs, but within forty-eight hours forty-six cousins were heard from in Rhode Island and eastern Connecticut, laying claims to a share of the estate.

The judge of probate has appointed John Trilling, of East Greenwich, R. I., as administrator to settle the estate.

FASHIONABLES SEE CLOSE OF BERRYVILLE HORSE SHOW

BERRYVILLE, Va., Aug. 30.—There was no abatement of interest in the Clarke county horse show on its closing day, and over 7,000 persons witnessed the performances. The day's contests and exhibits were among the best ever seen in the Shenandoah valley. Fashionable folk were on hand once again, and visitors from Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, and New York clamored for seats in the grandstand.

MULE ALARM CLOCK GONE; HEE-HAWED DAILY AT 6 A. M.

Old Pit Worker's Value Lay in Fact That It Could Rouse Work Family to Work Every Day at Candor, Pa.

CANDOR, Pa., Aug. 30.—Winfield S. Work has sent an alarm throughout Washington county and offered a reward of $25 in the hope of discovering his "mule alarm clock," which was stolen two days ago.

The animal, an old pit mule, was more of a pet on Work's farm than a worker, but its particular value lay in the fact that for the last six and a half years, the animal, which was named "Browner," aroused the Work family promptly at 6 o'clock every morning with a resonant "Hee-Haw."

Work maintains that the mule never varied more than a minute from the hour of six and that on the morning "Browner" was stolen he missed getting to town in time for the milk train for the first time since "Browner" developed alarm clock proclivities.

Pabst Blue Ribbon
The Beer of Quality

is a pure, healthful food—for brain-workers and muscle-workers.

Pure—because only the best barley-grain and the choicest hops are used, and absolute cleanliness marks every step in its brewing.

Food—because the Pabst Eight-Day Malting Process follows Nature closely and retains every particle of the wholesome food-values of the barley-grain which the Pabst Perfect Brewing Process transmits to the beer in predigested form.

Healthful—because the malt is nourishing, the hops are invigorating and the very low percentage of alcohol (3½%) mildly stimulates the digestive organs to proper activity.
